

Liquid Crystal Display Device And A Method Thereof

Abstract of Disclosure

A display panel having electrode wiring, a circuit board for supplying voltage to electrode wiring, a sheet material for electrically connecting the electrode wiring to circuit board, a frame for holding the display panel, and a restraint member for restraining the circuit board. The sheet material and the frame are restrained from moving relative to each other in a plane direction.

09681674-051801